

entrepreneurs seminar

Wednesday 6 April 2011

Spring into action: how entrepreneurs and fast growing businesses can best prepare for the upturn and beyond

This interactive session delivered by Mark Baxter of the international business coaching firm, Shirlaws, will help you to explore where we are in the economic cycle and how you can best equip your business to maximise its resources for the upturn, when it arrives. The afternoon will also provide you with an opportunity to network and share ideas.

during the session you will learn how to assess:

- where you are in your business cycle and how this affects your strategic choices
- what are the key risks and opportunities for your business in this phase of the economy
- the skills of your management team to create growth

who should attend?

Enterprising individuals, CEOs, directors and key decision makers of entrepreneurial businesses who want their businesses to grow with confidence in the future.
