

Ready, get set, grow!

build your brand and attract investment

A seminar and networking event at UKFT - 4.00pm, Tuesday 17th May 2011

Fashion and textile businesses can grow extremely fast, and they soon reach the point at which they need more funds. Want to find out how to attract investment to take your business to the next stage?

This seminar is designed specifically for fast-growing enterprises in our sector, and will provide you with expert but down to earth and practical advice.

Building a brand from niche to global - Stirling Murray, CEO, The Red Tree

Blood, sweat, tears and a whole lot more - how brands have found a perfect niche and turned it into a major international success story

Getting your business funded - Natasha Frangos, Partner, haysmacintyre

How to identify when your business needs investment, and how to make it investment-ready. What are the potential sources of funding?

What are investors looking for? - Jonathan Pfal, MD, Rockstar Mentoring Group

Finding the right investors, creating a winning business plan and a look at some recent successes

The seminar will be followed by an informal Q & A, drinks and an opportunity to meet your fellow delegates.

about the speakers

Stirling Murray

After a successful international career building global consumer brands Stirling set up his own company, floated it on AIM and raised funds that led to a multi-million pound acquisition. Stirling delivers results by combining the experiences gained in large corporates and small companies.

Jonathan Pfal

Jonathan is the founder and MD of the Rockstar Mentoring Group. A former Goldman Sachs wealth manager, he created Rockstar in 2007 and has so far mentored or raised funding for over 250 different businesses in the UK.

Natasha Frangos, Partner and Head of the Fashion Unit, haysmacintyre

Natasha acts for a range of corporate entities, specialising in media and fashion. She writes regular articles for the fashion industry which have been featured on Vogue.com and in Drapers and is involved in organising fashion-specific events. She is also a judge for Growing Business' Young Guns, an annual awards ceremony for entrepreneurs sponsored by haysmacintyre.
